 In an era when a woman's success is often measured by her ability to balance a career and a family, the idea of a woman who is a single parent is still a taboo. But in the past few years, the number of single mothers has increased significantly. In 1990, there were 1.5 million single mothers in the United States. By 2000, that number had risen to 2.5 million. And by 2010, it was estimated to be 3.5 million. This is a significant increase, and it is a reflection of the changing role of women in society. As more women enter the workforce, more women are also becoming single mothers. This is a trend that is likely to continue in the future.

Read-Along 101: New storytellers

By David Huxford

FOR THE FIRST TIME, THE NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY, ASTOR LENOX TILDEN FOUNDATION, AND THE TILDEN FOUNDATION have joined forces to create a new kind of storybook. The result is a series of books that are both beautiful and educational. Each book is a work of art, with illustrations that are as stunning as the stories they tell. The books are designed to be read aloud, and they are perfect for children of all ages. The first book in the series is "The Little Prince," which is a classic story that has been told for generations. The second book is "The Little Prince and the Rose," which is a new story that was written specifically for this book. The third book is "The Little Prince and the Fox," which is another new story. The fourth book is "The Little Prince and the Snake," which is the final story in the series. Each book is a masterpiece of storytelling and illustration, and it is a pleasure to read them.

The following table shows the results of the regression analysis for the dependent variable "Number of children" (N = 1,000). The independent variables are "Age" and "Gender". The coefficients are estimated using ordinary least squares (OLS).

Variable	Coefficient	Standard Error	t-statistic	p-value
Intercept	2.50	0.10	25.00	0.0000
Age	0.15	0.02	7.50	0.0000
Gender (Male)	-0.10	0.05	-2.00	0.0476

The regression equation is: $\text{Number of children} = 2.50 + 0.15 \times \text{Age} - 0.10 \times \text{Gender (Male)}$.

GMA's chief political strategist quits post

Special report

By [Name]

MANILA, Sept. 15 (PNA) — GMA's chief political strategist, [Name], has resigned from his post as the network's political director, a move that could signal a shift in the network's political strategy.

[Name], who has been with GMA since 1994, was seen as a key figure in the network's political operations. He was instrumental in the network's support for the [Candidate] campaign in the 1998 elections.

His resignation comes at a time when GMA is facing criticism for its political involvement. The network has been accused of using its media power to influence the outcome of the elections.

GMA officials have denied these allegations, claiming that the network's role is purely journalistic. They argue that the network's primary responsibility is to provide the public with accurate and unbiased news.

Despite the controversy, GMA remains a major force in Philippine media. Its extensive reach and influence make it a key player in the country's political landscape.

ADB to provide $225-M loan for LGL development program

By Stephanie S. Rogers Clues: municipalities to become financially independent

MANILA, Philippines—The Asian Development Bank (ADB) has approved a $225-million loan to help the Philippines government develop a Local Government Leadership Program (LGLP). The program aims to help local government units (LGUs) become financially independent and improve their service delivery. The loan will be used to fund a series of activities, including training, technical assistance, and infrastructure development. The ADB is one of the largest multilateral development banks in the world, and it has been providing financial assistance to the Philippines for many years. The LGLP is a key component of the government's efforts to decentralize government services and improve the lives of Filipinos. The program will focus on helping LGUs to develop their own revenue sources, improve their financial management, and enhance their service delivery. The ADB's loan is a significant commitment to the Philippines, and it will help the government to achieve its goals for economic growth and social development.

Shell challenges P7.3-B tax assessment

By Robert M. H.

MANILA, Philippines—The Shell Philippines Oil Refining Co. has filed a petition with the Tax Court to challenge a P7.3-billion tax assessment imposed by the Bureau of Internal Revenue (BIR). The assessment is based on the company's failure to pay taxes on its oil refining operations. Shell claims that the assessment is incorrect and that it has paid all the taxes it owes. The BIR, however, insists that the assessment is correct and that Shell has not paid the taxes it owes. The case is expected to be heard by the Tax Court in the near future. The outcome of the case could have significant implications for the oil refining industry in the Philippines.

Cost issues said to weigh down RP auto industry

By Angel L. Yu It takes more to produce cars here than elsewhere, study says

MANILA, Nov. 10 (AP) — A new study says that the Philippine auto industry is facing a significant cost disadvantage compared to other major Asian markets. The study, conducted by a leading industry analyst, found that the cost of producing a car in the Philippines is approximately 10% higher than in Japan and 15% higher than in South Korea. This cost gap is attributed to several factors, including higher labor costs, more expensive raw materials, and less efficient manufacturing processes. The study also noted that the Philippine government's policies, such as high import duties on auto parts, further exacerbate the cost issue. Industry officials expressed concern that these cost disadvantages could hinder the growth of the local auto industry and its ability to compete with foreign manufacturers.

What are wetlands?

By David L. Brown, a Wetlands

Wetlands are areas that are saturated with water at or near the surface of the ground. They are found in many parts of the world, including the United States. Wetlands are important for many reasons, including their ability to filter pollutants from water, provide habitat for wildlife, and store carbon. In the United States, wetlands are protected under the Clean Water Act. The Act requires that any development that would affect wetlands must first obtain a permit from the Army Corps of Engineers. This process can be complex and time-consuming, but it is important to ensure that wetlands are protected and their benefits are preserved.

Wetlands are also important for agriculture. They provide a natural source of water for irrigation and can help to prevent soil erosion. In addition, wetlands can provide a natural source of food for livestock. For example, some wetlands are used for duck hunting. Overall, wetlands are a valuable resource that should be protected and managed carefully.

AN IMAX™ CREATED PRODUCTION

Avatar is a 2009 American epic science fiction film directed by James Cameron. It is the first film to be shot and released in 3D. The film is set in a remote planet with a lush ecosystem, where a group of humans are sent to mine for rare resources. The story follows a paraplegic Marine who is sent to the planet and forms a bond with a Na'vi, leading to a war between the humans and the native population.

The film was a massive commercial success, becoming the highest-grossing film of all time. It received widespread critical acclaim for its groundbreaking 3D technology and Cameron's direction. The film's success led to a sequel, Avatar: The Way of Water, which is set to be released in 2022.

Avatar is a masterpiece of modern cinema, combining stunning visual effects with a compelling story. It is a film that has inspired a generation of filmmakers and audiences alike. The film's success has paved the way for more 3D films and has solidified its place as one of the greatest films of the 21st century.

I was going to be the first to see the results of the poll, and I was going to be the first to see the results of the poll.
